our story

Visit Hillbrush began its life in 2017, having been a dream of our Chairman, Philip Coward, to have the first brushmaking museum in the UK. With the company move to Norwood Park at the end of 2016, the dream became a reality and building work commenced. As the space grew, it transformed from a rough shell to a beautifully furnished museum, shop and restaurant with the help and support of family and staff. Visit Hillbrush opened its doors in April 2017 and has been growing from strength to strength ever since, offering an impressive menu curated by our head chef, outdoor terrace seating, Friday evening specials and space hire. There is also our unique museum covering everything from injection moulding methods to the company history, and even our award of the Royal Warrant from HM The Queen. Our boutique shop sells unique gifts and fellow Royal Warrant holder products as well as our own brushware and cleaning tools that are manufactured on site.

The Visit Hillbrush restaurant is one of quality, delight and comfort. We pride ourselves in picking the most delicious, locally sourced food to satisfy our guests every day. From a full English breakfast to a prawn mayo ciabatta and a delicious house salad, there is something for everyone in our restaurant.

Expertly prepared coffees by our master baristas, real ice cream milkshakes to order and an abundance of cakes and tray bakes, Visit Hillbrush provides fine dining and takeaway goodies for all ages and tastes. There is always something happening on Friday evenings, regularly featuring Steak Night, Seafood Night and our ever popular Themed Nights.

Hillbrush has been manufacturing quality brushes since 1922, beginning with wooden brooms for the local residents of Mere. Within just a few years, Hillbrush brushes could be found on nearly every street corner in the UK.

In the museum you'll find everything from vintage brushmaking machinery to our company story, insightful video footage on interactive screens, to fibres from around the world. You'll even find information on our modern injection moulding processes which produce the colourful Hillbrush Hygiene plastic range. Our museum is unique and we hope that you will learn something new, be left inspired and never look at a brush the same way again!

A lovely gift shop...

We carefully select only the best products to sell in our shop, including ranges from fellow Royal Warrant holders. We also sell products from local designers and businesses alongside more widely known brands such as Caroline Gardner and Alex Clark. Our shop is full of unique gifts, homewares, accessories and handy tools, suitable as presents for others or simply for yourself.

We also stock our own high-quality wooden and colour coded plastic brushes that are manufactured on site and are ideal for use in the home or garden. Our friendly staff are always on hand to help if you have any questions about our products or otherwise.

passion & belief

We believe that passion is one of the most important aspects of business culture, which is why we ensure we take pride in using the finest ingredients, selecting the best cakes, choosing the most interesting and suitable products and curating the greatest Friday theme nights.

We love to know that our customers and staff are happy and we make it our daily goal to ensure that happens.
